PRINCESS MARY IS

LONDON, June 13 .- "Princess Mary has been unofficially affianced-to some one-ever since her eighteenth birthday, and even before then," says the "Man About Town" in the Evening News. "Gossips on the Continent have assigned her, in turn, to a Swedish prince, the Crown Prince of Serbia. and the Crown Prince of Rumania. "It is not generally remembered in London, though it is never forgotten morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for elsewhere, that she is the greatest 'catch' in Europe. It is, I believe, the wish of the King and Queen that the old, at the residence of his son, Blair princess should marry a Briton, and have heard more than one name suggested as her probable husband-en- west.

Was Pulling Radishes. Mr. Robbins says he was out in the garden Monday afternoon pulling some radishes when he discovered a six-foot coachwhlp snake watching him balefully. Mindful of the tradition, and despite the absence of pine Requiem mass was said yesterday trees, Mr. Robbins turned and fled, at the Church of the Transfiguration the coachwhip after him. Round and round the garden patch fled Mr. Robbins, and the coachwhip still pursued

The chase ended near the barn, where Mr. Robbins was forced to pause for breath. Whether the oachwhip was shy of wind also does not appear, but he started crawling day for Arthur M. Righter at his under the barn to think it over. Mr. Robbins, encouraged by this maneuver and angered at the damage already wrought among his garden-sass, grasped the snake by his delicately tapering tail and dragged him, kicking furiously, from beneath the barn. Instantly the coachwhip changed his tactics and looped himself about Mr. Robbins' neck.

Business Picked Up.

Business picked up at once, and the warm spring atmosphere was shattered by rude exclamations of the rough-and-ready variety. The coachwhip had a combination grapevine and head-hold on Mr. Robbins, who was striving to achieve the deadly toe-hold made famous by the late Mr. Gotch. The radish bed was used as mat, and the grapple was fast and furious. It is always a difficult matter to put a toe-hold on a large and scientific snake, but Mr. Robbins was battling for his life, and a few remaining radishes-and he got the hold.

The first thing Mr. Robbins did was to unwrap the snake from about his goozle. The next thing he did was not strictly in accord with the wrestling regulations. Instead of pinning the coachwhip's shoulders to the radish bed. Robbins deliberately and with malice aforethought popped his enemy's skull vindictively against the side of the barn. The battle ended here. The snake measured two inches over two yards from tip to top.

Feather-weight Summer Suits For Good Dressers

It's a pretty well-established custom now among men who appreciate comfort and good style to get into "feather-weights" about this time of the year. If you have the notion that these summer clothes lack distinction and character, you want to see these we have provided. Men who demand good appearance wear them; they are cut with the character and tailored with the substantiality of much heavier materials.
